DIVERSIFIED FARMING WILL STAY-COULTER

Agricultural College President Says Few Farmers Will Revert to Old System

NET GAIN IS SEEN

Average North Dakota Farm Is Declared Far Too Large By Dr. Coulter

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 5.—Will the bountiful 1924 crops of wheat and other small grains coupled with a good price, influence North Dakota farmers to return to small grain farming of the "good old days" and abandon the program of accelerated diversification that received such impetus during the past two seasons?

Some farmers will be so influenced and will go backward to the old system but the most of them will go forward so that the net gain will be a safer, sounder and more profitable type of farming in this state, believes Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

The adoption of the new type of farming for this state with its many crops instead of one will cause the breaking up of many of the bigger farms into smaller units, the president believes.

"The average farm in North Dakota is too large a unit to be operated by the farmer and his family," declares Dr. Coulter. "The average farm in this state consists of 405 acres or an average more than four times as large as is the average farm in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan or Wisconsin. In the latter states the average is 108 acres.

Steady Business

"Farming is not a business where men expect to get rich. The ideal is a prosperous, happy, contented, intelligent family in every farm home. To reach this ideal, farming must be organized on a sound basis both practical and scientific. Whereas in 1919 the three small grain crops—wheat, rye and flax—represented 62.6 per cent of all crop acreage, in 1924 they represented only 53.2 per cent. It is believed that in another five years these cash crops will not occupy more than one-third of the crop land in the state. Smaller and better organized farms, more farms, more children in our schools and more people to support them, lower taxes per capita, more and higher valued products to be shipped with relatively lower freight rates, a greater volume of banking with lower interest rates, smaller acreages of small grains but higher yields per acre at lower cost per bushel, more hay and pasture, feed and forage crops and livestock and livestock products and greater income from this source, more home owning, prosperous, happy, educated and contented people—these are some of the results expected from this program of re-organization."

Full of Resources

"It is a great state, full of resources, strength and youth but with still some of the awkwardness of youth," he explains. This land is young. Fifty years ago it was largely occupied by Indians, buffalo, deer and antelope and wild poultry. Today, while facing the basic tasks of reorganizing production and marketing, it is finding its true strength and possibilities as a producer of food for the nation.

North Dakota's recovery from the situation following the war is due partly to the higher prices and higher yields of wheat and other grain crops, in Doctor Coulter's opinion. But while more money was being received by the farmer for his crops he was spending less because the average farmer was producing more of the supplies for the family as well as getting receipts from the sale of eggs, poultry, dairy products, honey and bees, meat, wool, potatoes, vegetables and fruits.

This is an indirect way of marketing corn, oats and barley, alfalfa, clover and other forage crops. Another reason for the state's recovery is the more balanced production, according to Dr. Coulter, which has resulted in a decrease in the wheat acreage and an increase in the acreage of feed and forage crops.

Deceased Wheat Acreage

"Of prime importance in agriculture's recovery is the fact that in the United States the farmers have decreased their wheat acreage from almost 76 million acres in 1919 to less than 54 million in 1924, a decrease of almost 22 million acres," explains the president. "Assuming in a series of years an average yield per acre of 15 bushels for the United States as a whole, this meant a decrease in the world supply for 1924 as compared to 1919 of about 330 million bushels.

"Another important fact was the rapid redevelopment of effective world demand through reestablishment of international credits and settlement of reparations. This readjustment of supply and demand brought about better prices—an advance in North Dakota of from 40 (Continued on page 8)

FIRE DEATHS BRING TRIAL

Former Willow City Man Alleged to Have Indirectly Caused Deaths

Bottineau, N. D., Dec. 5.—Martin Roloffson, former Willow City barber, charged with arson in a fire which on Sept. 21, 1923, brought death to three young children of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Warner of Willow City, will go on trial in district court here today. Judge W. J. Kane has been presiding.

J. D. Stenson of Bismarck, deputy state fire marshal, who investigated the fire, is the principal witness. Roloffson has been out under heavy bonds.

Only one of the four Warner children escaped. The parents and one son, Ambrose, were serving refreshment at a dance across the street when the fire was discovered. A wall of fire blocked the stairs up to the bedroom of the sleeping children.

Judge Kane has not designated the county in which charges against former officials of a Maxlow bank, now closed, will be tried. Affidavits against the presiding judge and Bottineau county were filed. The bankers are charged with violating various phases of the banking laws.

GROWERS TAKE 2 JUDGMENTS

Are Filed Against Kidder County Farmers

Steele, N. D., Dec. 5.—Judgments against Philip Preszler and Jacob Leno, both of Tuttle, have been filed in the Kidder county court and have been placed for execution in the hands of the sheriff of that county for levy on their property, according to a J. Scott secretary of the North Dakota Wheat Growers association.

These judgments represent liquidated damages of 25 cents per bushel for wheat sold elsewhere than through the pool, and were awarded through default of the defendants in appearing in court in answer to the charges.

The association was granted a judgment of $408.75 against Mr. Preszler and $100 against Mr. Leno. Mr. Scott asserted that the officials of the association do not wish to be "hard-boiled" with members who refuse to fulfill the provisions of the contract signed by them, but in fairness to the loyal members they are forced to proceed against contract-breakers, even to the extent of invoking the state law.

BRITAIN HAS A BILL

France's Debt to Her About Same as U. S.—Wants to Share in Payment

London, Dec. 5.—The British government, it was stated in official quarters today, is expected to address a note to the American and French governments soon requesting those governments to inform Great Britain what steps have been taken or are anticipated in settling the French war debt to the United States.

Such inquiries, it was stated, were natural after the recent statements made both in France and in the United States regarding the preliminary negotiations to such a settlement, as Great Britain not only was uninformed of such steps but never has been approached on the subject of any settlement of the French war debts to the British government.

France's debt to Great Britain amounts to 623,000,000 pounds with 728,000,000 owed by France to the United States. It is pointed out that Great Britain has a right to expect the same treatment in the same manner that the British government receives the same treatment from France as any other nation in this tangled problem of inter-allied debts.

The British financial ministry is necessarily bound to follow public opinion largely in the matter of debts, it was stated.

Session of Daughters of the Confederacy Is Lively

Washington, Dec. 5.—Police were called here yesterday to restore order at a meeting of the District of Columbia chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in special session to elect officers for the Washington organization.

Since 11 a. m. the convention had been in turmoil without interruption with accusations, hurrying back and forth between the contending factions, one of which is led by Mrs. Drury C. Ludlow, and the other by Mrs. Walter E. Hutton, who is acting as president general over the protest of many of the delegates.

One woman finally ran to a telephone to summon the police and a negro patrolman responded. His appearance calmed both sides, and the meeting broke up with a final argument over who had sent for him.

PRISON COW MAKES RECORD

Unusual Production of Milk Is Reported

The state penitentiary's dairy herd has one member who is on her way to a milk producing record, in the belief of officials. She is Hannah Dutchland Duchsne No. 621338, Holstein, who produced 551.3 pounds of milk containing 20.42 pounds of butterfat, equal to 25.52 pounds of butter, in seven days. The cow is five years old and has not shown any record-breaking tendencies until the present year. When it became necessary to milk her four times a day, a special grain ration was prepared for her.

During the test she got the following ration: three parts each of corn, oats, and oatmeal with five parts of bran. She consumed about one pound of this ration to every three and one half pounds of milk produced. For roughage she got 30 lbs. of beets, 12 lbs. of silage and 15 lbs. of prairie hay.

On the high day of her test she produced 88 lbs. of milk containing 3.75 lbs. of butter. Contrary to the usual order Hannah Dutchland Duchsne is not of a nervous disposition.

Cherene Jewel Homestead No. 418418 has also completed a seven day test with 287.9 lbs. of milk containing 17.92 lbs. of butter. This cow is not a stranger to the breeders of this district as she was grand champion Holstein at the Missouri Slope fair in 1923 and third in 1924.

MURDER CASE GOES TO JURY IN DICKINSON

Case of Dr. Shortridge, Charged With Murder, Given To Jury

BITTERLY ARRAIGNED

States Attorney Connolly, in Argument, Flays the Flasher Physician

(Special to The Tribune) Dickinson, N. D., Dec. 5.—The case of second degree murder against Dr. W. R. Shortridge, on trial in the Stark county district court, was given to a jury today following instructions delivered to the jury by Judge F. B. Lembke. Judge Lembke delivered his instructions after court convened this morning.

Arguments were concluded last night, with crowds jamming the court room to hear States Attorney J. P. Cain of Stark county, States Attorney L. H. Connolly of Mandan and T. F. Murtha of Dickinson.

Expressing a desire to save the jury what might possibly prove an all night battle Judge F. B. Lembke adjourned court late yesterday afternoon immediately after attorneys for both the state and the defense in the Shortridge case had completed their closing arguments. The on fire afternoon was occupied by the plea of the attorneys.

Presenting the final argument for the prosecution, States Attorney Connolly made an eloquent plea for conviction that at times rose to the heights of oratory and left a profound impression upon the eager crowd that jammed the court room, and brought tears to the eyes of the women present. He emphasized the terrible nature of the crime that he said claimed Freda Nadler as a sacrifice. He scathingly condemned the actions and attitude of the defendant physician and characterized him as one from whom the last spark of manhood, kindness and mercy had fled. He painted a vivid word picture of the plight of the girl as she went to the defendant for aid in her distress.

"And now, gentlemen of the jury," he said, "the spirit of Freda Nadler stands at the purely gates holding a candlestick containing twelve tapers, each representing one of yourselves asking you to light them in the cause of justice. Will you respond?"

Attorney T. F. Murtha in closing the case for the defense made a masterful plea.

States Attorney James P. Cain in the rebuttal for the state forcibly brought the attention of the jury to the death certificate submitted as an exhibit and bitterly condemned the character who would violate the law by deliberately mis-stating facts in the case.

PUPILS MARCH FROM BURNING HIGH SCHOOL

Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 5.—Fire was discovered under a staircase leading to the second floor of the Junior High School shortly before noon today.

The 540 pupils of the school marched from the building in an orderly manner with the exception of a number who attempted to pass down the burning staircase. One girl jumped over the banister but was caught by an instructor and was not injured. Several others jumped out of window to a roof of a power house a few feet below. None were injured.

The rest of the students starting down the stairs were turned around by the efforts of the faculty members and marched to safety by another route. The building is an old one, largely of wooden construction. The damage from the blaze, which was promptly extinguished, was placed at $500. The cause is unknown.

Broken Telephone Poles in Nebraska, Iowa, Impaired Train Service, Reported

SWEEPS ON TO EAST

Storm, Less Serious, Is Striking Illinois and Other States

NORTH DAKOTA SMILES

North Dakota continued to back in comparatively mild weather and sunshine today, while snow storms were reported in states to the south, according to O. W. Roberts, weather observer.

There is very little snow in the state, the weather bureau reported, and weather conditions indicated that no storm was approaching the state.

The mercury fell to eight above at 8 o'clock this morning here, the lowest of the season except for one drop to two above in November. There was no snow in southwestern North Dakota and the sun shone brightly early today.

Williston reported 26 above as the lowest temperature at that point last night, with the weather cloudy, while Moorhead, Minnesota, reported a minimum temperature of 14 above.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Interrupted telephone communication, more than 2,000 broken poles in Nebraska and Iowa, and delayed trains throughout the west central states were the results of the first snow and sleet storm of the winter, which was moving north and east today.

The fury of the elements was abating in the sections where damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done, and forecasts were that the territory in the path of the storm would escape with a minimum of destruction.

Nebraska and Iowa were hardest hit, with railroad and commercial lines crippled or put out of commission for miles west of Omaha. Wire conditions caused train delays as far west as the Rocky Mountain States. A heavy snowfall in the Northwest was reported today, with from several inches to a foot or more in Minnesota, South Dakota and parts of Iowa.

Sioux City, Iowa, had 10 inches of snow in 24 hours. Sioux Falls had seven inches. States in the vicinity of Colorado were buried under several inches of snow. Temperatures in the entire storm territory hovered around the freezing point, making the precipitation beneficial for winter wheat, according to the weather bureau reports.

SWEEPS SOUTH

Oklahoma City, Dec. 5.—Oklahoma today was in the grip of the first real cold spell of the winter season. The cold wave struck the state yesterday and had sent the mercury down near freezing last night.

HITS MISSOURI ALSO

Kansas City, Dec. 5.—Missouri today lay in the path of the snow storm which swept over Kansas yesterday demolishing wire communication in the western part of the state and delaying trains.

While Missouri experienced rain and snow with sharply lower temperatures the storm abated in Kansas today. Snow drifts here to three feet deep were reported in western Kansas but the precipitation tapered off as the storm moved across the state.

SNOW IN MINNESOTA

Albert Lea, Minn., Dec. 5.—Three inches of ice and snow cover the ground in this vicinity as a result of the heaviest snow fall of the season last night. Telegraph and telephone wires are covered with ice.

TEN INCHES OF SNOW

Stout City, Iowa, Dec. 5.—Ten inches of snow has fallen here in the past 20 hours. Street car service was badly handicapped yesterday afternoon because of heavy drifting of the snow. Taxi companies had pressed every available machine into service to meet the excessive demands for transportation.

STORM WARNINGS

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The weather bureau gave the following today: Northwest storm warnings are now displayed on Lake Superior and the northern portions of Lakes Michigan and Huron.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING WILL STAY-COULTER

Agricultural College President Says Few Farmers Will Revert to Old System

NET GAIN IS SEEN

Average North Dakota Farm Is Declared Far Too Large By Dr. Coulter

Fargo, N. D., Dec. 5.—Will the bountiful 1924 crops of wheat and other small grains coupled with a good price, influence North Dakota farmers to return to small grain farming of the "good old days" and abandon the program of accelerated diversification that received such impetus during the past two seasons?

Some farmers will be so influenced and will go backward to the old system but the most of them will go forward so that the net gain will be a safer, sounder and more profitable type of farming in this state, believes Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

The adoption of the new type of farming for this state with its many crops instead of one will cause the breaking up of many of the bigger farms into smaller units, the president believes.

"The average farm in North Dakota is too large a unit to be operated by the farmer and his family," declares Dr. Coulter. "The average farm in this state consists of 465 acres or an acreage more than four times as large as is the average farm in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan or Wisconsin. In the latter states the average is 108 acres.

Steady Business

"Farming is not a business where men expect to get rich. The ideal is a prosperous, happy, contented, intelligent family in every farm home. To reach this ideal, farming must be organized on a sound basis both practical and scientific. Whereas in 1919 the three small grain crops—wheat, rye and flax—represented 62.6 per cent of all crop acreage, in 1924 they represented only 53.2 per cent. It is believed that in another five years these cash crops will not occupy more than one-third of the crop land in the state. Smaller and better organized farms, more farms, more children in our schools and more people to support them, lower taxes per capita, more and higher valued products to be shipped with relatively lower freight rates, a greater volume of banking with lower interest rates, smaller acreages of small grains but higher yields per acre at lower cost per bushel, more hay and pasture, feed and forage crops and livestock and livestock products and greater income from this source, more home owning, prosperous, happy, educated and contented people—these are some of the results expected from this program of reorganization."

Full of Resources

"It is a great state, full of resources, strength and youth but with still some of the awkwardness of youth," he explains. "The land is young. Fifty years ago it was largely occupied by Indians, buffalo, deer and antelope and wild prairie. Today, while facing the two basic tasks of reorganizing production and marketing, it is finding its true strength and possibilities as a producer of food for the nation."

North Dakota's recovery from the situation following the war is due partly to the higher prices and higher yields of wheat and other grain seed crops, in Doctor Coulter's opinion. But while more money was being received by the farmer for his crops he was spending less because the average farmer was producing more of the supplies for the family as well as getting receipts from the sale of eggs, poultry, dairy products, honey and bees, meat, wool, potatoes, vegetables and fruits.

This is an indirect way of marketing corn, oats and barley, alfalfa, clover and other forage crops.

Another reason for the state's recovery is the more balanced production, according to Dr. Coulter, which has resulted in a decrease in the wheat acreage and an increase in the acreage of feed and forage crops.

"Of prime importance in agriculture's recovery is the fact that in the United States the farmers have decreased their wheat acreage from almost 70 million acres in 1919 to less than 54 million in 1924, a decrease of almost 22 million acres," explains the president. "Assuming in a series of years an average yield per acre of 15 bushels for the United States as a whole, this meant a decrease in the world supply for 1924 as compared to 1919 of about 330 million bushels."

"Another important fact was the rapid redevelopment of effective world demand through reestablishment of international credits and settlement of reparations. This readjustment of supply and demand brought about better prices—an advance in North Dakota of from 40

Steele, N. These judgments represent liquidated damages of 25 cents per bushel for wheat sold elsewhere than through the pool, and were awarded through default of the defendants in appearing in court in answer to the charges.

The association was granted a judgment of $408.75 against Mr. Preszler and $100 against Mr. Leno.

Mr. Scott asserted that the officials of the association do not wish to be "hard-boiled" with members who refuse to fulfill the provisions of the contract signed by them, but in fairness to the loyal members they are forced to proceed against contract-breakers, even to the extent of invoking the state law.

"RADIO RASH" IS AFFLICTION

Berlin, Dec. 5.—(By the A. P.) "Radio rash" is Europe's newest affliction. It is an eruption of the tender skin of the ears of wireless devotees, resulting from the constant pressure of the hard rubber head pieces. Dr. Marcus of Vienna, writing on the subject for a clinical review, says the rash, while very annoying, is not serious when attended to promptly. Use of soft rubber "pear nuclei" which fit over the hard ear pieces is suggested as a precautionary measure.

MURDER CLUE IS FOLLOWED

Developments Expected in Death of Carrington Man

Carrington, N. D., Dec. 5.—With the arrest of B. Clancy in Sioux City, further developments in the mystery surrounding the disappearance of John Goings, of Carrington, are expected daily. Clancy was one of the two men who left here with Goings November 17.

Sheriff Allen R. Hall returned to this city yesterday afternoon with George Goings, the brother of the man whose automobile was found in Minneapolis with only bloodstains on it to give a clue to the probable murder. The two men left Carrington Friday afternoon and went to Minneapolis where they worked with the Minneapolis police department, assisted by Captain Crumphy, of the detective bureau.

When Sheriff Hall left Carrington he had information about Clancy which led to his arrest in Sioux City several days later. Ed Helm, the other man who accompanied Goings when he left here, has not been seen since he attempted to cash a travelers check, thought to be Goings' in Minneapolis.

Trace of Goings and his two companions was picked up at Elbow Lake, Minn., where restaurant employees said the men stopped for a lunch about noon, November 18. No further trace has been found of Goings, and efforts to find him have to date failed, largely because nothing has been learned from Clancy and Helm is still at large. Police, working on the clues they already have, are relatively certain that Goings was attacked between Elbow Lake and Minneapolis and probably murdered, his body being disposed of some place relatively near to the highway.

George Goings, the brother of the missing man, last saw his brother when John left his brother's home in Jamestown, the morning of November 18. Sheriff Hall and George Goings drove back to Carrington in the car of the missing man.

States Attorney Connolly, in Argument, Flays the Flasher Physician

(Special to The Tribune)

Dickinson, N. D., Dec. 5.—The case of second degree murder against Dr. W. R. Shortridge, on trial in the Stark county district court, was given to a jury today following instructions delivered by the jury by Judge F. B. Lemke. Judge Lemke delivered his instructions after court convened this morning.

Arguments were concluded last night, with crowds jamming the court room to hear States Attorney J. P. Connolly of Stark county, States Attorney L. H. Connolly of Mandan and T. F. Murtha of Dickinson.

Expressing a desire to save the jury what might possibly prove an all night battle Judge F. B. Lemke adjourned court late yesterday afternoon immediately after attorneys for both the state and the defense in the Shortridge case had completed their closing arguments. The entire afternoon was occupied by the pleas of the attorneys.

Presenting the final argument for the prosecution States Attorney Connolly made an eloquent plea for conviction that at times rose to the heights of oratory and left a profound impression upon the eager crowd that jammed the court room, and brought tears to the eyes of the women present. He emphasized the terrible nature of the crime that he said claimed Freda Nadler as a sacrifice. He scathingly condemned the actions and attitude of the defendant physician and characterized him as one from whom the last spark of manhood, kindness and mercy had fled. He painted a vivid word picture of the plight of the girl as she went to the defendant for aid in her distress.

"And now, gentlemen of the jury," he said, "the spirit of Freda Nadler stands at the pearly gates holding a candlestick containing twelve tapers, each representing one of yourselves asking you to light them in the cause of justice. Will you respond?"

Attorney T. F. Murtha in closing the case for the defense made a masterful plea.

States Attorney James P. Cain in the rebuttal for the state forcibly brought the attention of the jury to the death certificate submitted as an exhibit and bitterly condemned the character who would violate the law by deliberately mis-stating facts in the case.

PUPILS MARCH FROM BURNING HIGH SCHOOL

Grand Forks, N. D., Dec. 5.—Fire was discovered under a staircase leading to the second floor of the Junior High School shortly before noon today.

The 540 pupils of the school marched from the building in an orderly manner with the exception of a number who attempted to pass down the burning staircase. One girl jumped over the banister but was caught by an instructor and was not injured. Several others jumped out of a window to a roof of a power house a few feet below. None were injured.

The rest of the students starting down the stairs were turned around by the efforts of the faculty members and marched to safety by another route. The building is an old one, largely of wooden construction. The damage from the blaze, which was promptly extinguished, was placed at $500. The cause is unknown.

Storm, Less Serious, Is Striking Illinois and Other States

NORTH DAKOTA SMILES

North Dakota continued to back in comparatively mild weather and sunshine today, while snow storms were reported in states to the south, according to O. W. Roberts, weather observer.

There is very little snow in the state, the weather bureau reported, and weather conditions indicated that no storm was approaching the state.

The mercury fell to eight above at 8 o'clock this morning here, the lowest of the season except for one drop to two above in November. There was no snow in southwestern North Dakota and the sun shone brightly early today.

Williston reported 26 above as the lowest temperature at that point last night, with the weather cloudy, while Moorhead, Minnesota, reported a minimum temperature of 14 above.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Interrupted telegraph communication, more than 2,000 broken poles in Nebraska and Iowa, and delayed trains throughout the west central states were the results of the first snow and sleet storm of the winter, which was moving north and east today.

The fury of the elements was abating in the sections where damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done, and forecasts were that the territory in the path of the storm would escape with a minimum of destruction.

Nebraska and Iowa were hardest hit, with railroad and commercial lines crippled or put out of commission for miles west of Omaha. Wire conditions caused train delays as far west as the Rocky Mountain States. A heavy snowfall in the Northwest was reported today with from several inches to a foot or more in Minnesota, South Dakota and parts of Iowa.

Sioux City, Iowa, had 10 inches of snow in 24 hours. Sioux Falls had seven inches. States in the vicinity of Colorado were buried under several inches of snow. Temperatures in the entire storm territory hovered around the freezing point, making the precipitation beneficial for winter wheat, according to the weather bureau reports.

New York, Dec. 5.—Seven brokers, including William S. Silkworth, former president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, were sentenced by Federal Judge Augustus H. Hand, to terms of varying length in federal and county institutions.

Blaine J. Nicholas and Earl H. Truesdell, were ordered to Atlanta penitentiary for two years. Their partner, DeWitt C. Raynor, of Raynor, Nicholas and Truesdell, who pleaded guilty and turned state's witness, will accompany Silkworth to the Essex county institution for a 90 day term.

Edward A. McQuade and Francis X. Quillan of the curb brokerage firm of McQuade, Brothers & Quillan, were fined $500 each and sent to Essex county jail for 90 days. Sentence to the same institution for a like period, with a $1,000 fine, was imposed upon Louis Gilbough, former member of the ways and means committee of the Consolidated Exchange and a floor trader for Raynor, Nicholas and Truesdell.

The convictions all were based on charges in connection with the operation of Raynor, Nicholas and Truesdell, which failed in 1922 for approximately $4,000,000.

AGRICULTURE COMMISSION TO MEET SOON

Will Reconvene to Consider Data Which Has Been Gathered

Washington, Dec. 5.—The President's agricultural commission, which recessed Nov. 19 shortly after laying the foundation for its work on a permanent farm relief policy, will reconvene here, probably early next month, it was learned today, in a communication from Robert D. The department of agriculture and other government agencies have assembled a mass of information on agricultural and kindred subjects for the commission during the recess, and it is expected to take definite action at the January meeting.

SAYS—NOW STIFF JOINTS MUST GO!

New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up and Even the Creaking Ceases.

Yes; it's true—the world progresses.

All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale is immense.

All druggists have a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick. Mail orders filled, cash or C. O. D. Pope Laboratories, Hallowell, Maine.

LIQUOR, TAX CASES BURDEN ON U. S. COURTS

Difficulty in Keeping up With Growth of Business Cited By Attorney-General

CHANGES ARE MADE

Stone Would Have Jail Sentence More Used as Real Deterrent to Crime

Washington, Dec. 5.—The Department of Justice daily is finding its task more difficult in keeping pace with the growth of the federal business it must transact and there is urgent need for remedial legislation, according to Attorney General Stone declared in his annual report submitted today to Congress.

Federal courts are "staggering under the load imposed on them by prohibition legislation," the report stated, and added that "diverse and complex tax laws" also have increased greatly the burden which the courts must bear. The situation necessarily affects the office of United States attorneys and there is need, the Attorney General said, not only for a greater personnel in those offices but in the salaries paid to them.

While there was a small decrease as compared with the previous year in the number of liquor cases taken into court, the decrease was termed inconsequential and its effect had not been felt in the work of those charged with enforcement. The court disposed of 46,609 liquor and tax law cases in the year ending last June 30, an increase over the previous year of nearly 4,000, it was stated, and the aggregate amount of fines and forfeitures resulting from these cases was $7,487,000, almost $2,000,000 greater than the previous year.

For Jail Sentence
The Attorney General advocated greater use of the jail sentence as a "real deterrent" for violators of the prohibition laws, basing his remarks on a discussion of enforcement by Mrs. Mahol Walker Villard, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition and taxation, which was included in the report.

"While the added fines are encouraging as indicating a heavier money punishment, which helps to make the illicit traffic less profitable," Mrs. Villard said, "the real deterrent to this class of violators is the jail sentence. In that respect a great advance has been made, the average jail sentence jumping from 21 to 34 days.

"The penalties for violation of the prohibition laws at best are not severe for first offenses, particularly when compared with the penal features of the old internal revenue laws which were enacted to compel observance of the liquor taxing laws. To meet this situation, the department has been invoking, in such cases as the facts warrant, the use of internal revenue, customs and tariff laws."

In the division handling anti-trust laws, the department has been engaged in the last year in working mainly toward the solution of two major problems, the report said. One of them has to do with selection of cases for prosecution involving organization of trade associations, and in these it has been found that most of the trade associations are entirely legal and of great value to their members, although they have been found to be in the "twilight zone," while a third group has been found to be entirely outside the law. Final determination of legal points involved in these cases will clarify the law for all, the Attorney General believed.

Anti-Trust Laws
The second problem involves application of the anti-trust laws to restraint of trade and monopolies based upon the acquisition and pooling of patents. The effort in this phase of the work also has been to obtain cases that will clarify the law and remove doubt.

Mr. Stone renewed recommendations made by previous Attorneys General for amendment of many laws to simplify enforcement. He favored this for the reason that many of them yet are subject to judicial construction, and until that is done neither the public nor the department can know definitely the meaning.

There should be statutes, the report declared, making it a crime for a single individual to attempt to commit any crime against the government. He asked for explicit legal authority for the presence of stenographers in grand jury rooms and for amendment to the bankruptcy laws making it a crime to conceal assets involved in bankrupt proceedings. He also said there should be a federal statute to deal with the crime of assaulting or killing a federal officer and another extending punishment for the sending of letters threatening bodily harm through the United States mails.

Illinois May Drop Game With Gophers

Chicago, Dec. 5. As football coaches, athletic directors and faculty representatives of the western conference gathered here last night preliminary to the opening of the two day schedule meeting yesterday, ramblings were heard that Illinois and Minnesota would break off football relations when the scheduled for the 1925 season are drawn up. Reports also were current that Michigan and Wisconsin would not schedule a game next season.

While the threatened break between Illinois and Minnesota could not be confirmed, it was rumored that the injury of Harold "Red" Grange, Illinois' famous halfback, was the motive for severing gridiron relations. Grange was injured in the Illinois upset when Minnesota scored a surprise victory, and was unable to play in the remaining games on the Illinois schedule.

Linton, Wilton, New Salem and Carson remain to be scheduled and it is probable that several of the dates already scheduled will be made double headers.

Coach Erickson of Jamestown college is also desirous of securing a game with his freshman team and Miles city high school will be invading this territory some time in January but the date is not fixed.

Notre Dame To Meet One Big Ten Team in '25

Chicago, Dec. 5. The university of Notre Dame eleven, which swept out all oppositions this season without defeat, will meet only one western conference opponent in 1925 instead of two, Coach Knute Rockne said last night.

The Notre Dame schedule with the exception of one game is already filled, Rockne said. He asserted a date would be held up for Northwest, which held Notre Dame to a 13-6 score. Wisconsin was the other "Big Ten" team to face the famous "Four Horsemen" this season.

NO ONE HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Carrington, Dec. 5.—All persons aboard the westbound Northern Pacific passenger train No. 159 on the Turtle Lake branch escaped injury Monday evening when the train left the tracks near Denhoff. Railroad men explained the accident as due to spreading of the rails, and believe it was a natural mishap, not due to persons attempting to wreck the train.

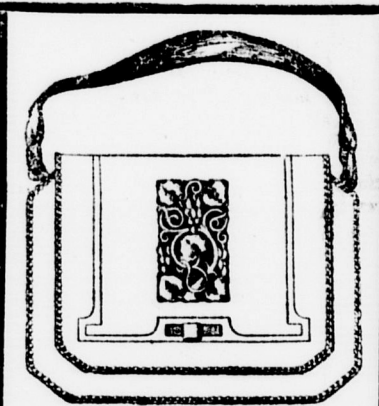

The accident happened west of Denhoff late Monday but a wrecking crew from Jamestown had cleared the track in time to allow the eastbound train to come through Tuesday morning, railroad officials said. Fred Anderson was engineer of the train and Frank Orcutt the conductor.

PLANS FOR DAM ARE APPROVED

Grand Forks, Dec. 5.—Preliminary plans and specifications for the Red River dam to be constructed this winter were approved Wednesday by the city commission, after being submitted by City Engineer J. J. Smith. These plans will now be forwarded to Washington, D. C., for consideration and approval of engineers of the war department.

The specifications call for a dam 186 feet long with two 29 1/2 foot abutments, to cost approximately $67,500. The dam would permanently raise the level of the river to a point about 7 1/2 feet above the present level of the ice.

Hail insurance indemnity warrants have been completed for 43 counties in the state, according to Martin Hagen, manager of the hail insurance department. Warrants for the remaining counties, he said, will be mailed out by December 15.

Despite heavy payments there is still about $700,000 in the hail insurance department treasury, and with full tax receipts heavier than usual it is expected the department will have sufficient funds to pay all claims without the necessity of borrowing money.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

IDLING WITH RADIO
"Idling with radio." Have you ever tried the diversion or obsession—an obsession after the third night. There is something in the "air" for every taste. That great invisible trumpet of the atmospheric waves is daily serving up a variety of entertainment and instruction that surprises even a novice at the game.

Sliding the dial around expectantly you tune in on a Chicago station featuring the reading of Shakespeare's plays. The other evening it happened to be Julius Caesar and the deep tones of Marc Anthony's oration came in crisp and clear. Just a fraction of a turn in the circle of noises, symphonies and readings and presto, there pounds forth some of the jazzy "blues" from the Alabama "blues" to the "alcoholic" kind of syncope.

Just the variation of an inch and Calgary thunders in with a dissertation on "turkies" suggesting naively that the bird rather than the bald eagle should be the emblem of the United States or as the announcer put it, "our neighbors to the south."

Telling off a few more notches along the dial and your ear is projected as it were into a banquet at the Drake hotel, Chicago, given in honor of the boys and girls, guests at the National Live Stock show. You could hear their yells, their songs and the addresses of Meredith, and other agricultural authorities urging the children to take a deeper interest in live-stock production, a feature of farm life which along with radio sets is making farm life more and more attractive to the girl and the boy.

Punching the air again and by some strange magic there is Dallas, Memphis, Cincinnati and the jolly fellows, the Night-Hawks of the Kansas City Star, with their "bovine lavaler" and "Holstein Chimes."

In the quietude of Sabbath there is the most excellent broadcasting by the Dallas News and Journal of a Bible class conducted by a Rev. Anderson and services of the Westminster Presbyterian church. The Bible class has now enrolled some 12,000 members, all tuned in and with Bibles on their laps follow the non-denominational explanation of the Holy Writ.

In crisp, cold night, just idle awhile with the radio, punning in on the waves of sound that travel swifter than mind can conceive and pierce to the very depths of the sea. A wonderful age indeed!

MORRIS RESOLUTION

While constitutional changes should be made carefully and not in the heat of a campaign or in the rush of popular opinion one situation calls for immediate attention of Congress. It will be thirteen months before the Sixty-ninth Congress is called into session unless President Coolidge summons an extra session. That would not be a disaster per se if it were not for the fact that under the constitution a "lame duck" Congress is in action and can hardly function according to the mandates laid down at the recent election.

The time elapsing between the inaugural of a newly elected president and the convening of a new Congress is a relic of the days of horseback, stage coaches and other picturesque institutions of colonial days. It will be recalled that rivers had to be forded, before Washington could be reached in the days of Jefferson. Legislatures had to convene to name senators and often Congress was without a quorum until the representatives of the people could get on the job.

All is changed now. Not long ago a Secretary of the Navy to gain a few hours took a navy airplane so as to be on time for a White House conference. There is no need to delay the transfer from the old to the new government in these days of rapid communication. There should be no constitutional barrier to the immediate assumption of office, say in the following January, of the President-elect and the new Congress.

The Norris resolution provides this very thing and puts the new regime in the saddle the January following the general elections and the constitutional amendment also precludes confusion if none of the presidential candidates secure enough electoral votes.

Such a reform should be provided at the present session.

FASTING

Fasting for 15 days, by a man of 40, will usually bring his basic metabolic rate (ability of bodily tissues to consume food) back to that of a lad of 15. This is shown by three years of tests at University of Chicago.

On the other hand, fasting cannot restore youth because it, at the same time, weakens the body so greatly.

Nature has us blocked at every turn in the search for perpetual youth. We have to get off the stage to make room for oncoming generations.

INDIANS

Duke of Alba, direct descendant of Christopher Columbus, says the great explorer recorded: "The Indians are a gentle people, without knowing what evil is, without killing, without stealing."

Our American pioneers left quite a different story. Did the cruelty and trickery of this continent's first Spanish and other settlers generate bloodthirstiness in most old-time Indians? Did they acquire torture and murder, like whisky, from the white man?

AT AGE OF 54

At the age of 54, Laura Austin Dickinson re-enters college to resume her studies. You read of such cases frequently. They are unusual, because the popular notion is that the purpose of schooling is to learn how to win power and make money. That's true, to youth, anxious to get ahead.

As the years slip by, men and women become more concerned with the mystery of this life and the hereafter. They seek knowledge for its own sake. After all, the only real "old age" is a petrified mentality.

LADD ON MUSCLE SHOALS

(Grand Forks Herald)

Two articles on Muscle Shoals, prepared by Senator Ladd, of North Dakota, have recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. In these articles Senator Ladd sets forth the reasons why he favors the transfer of the Muscle Shoals property to Henry Ford substantially on the terms proposed by Mr. Ford. He takes issue sharply with the Norris report which recommended the rejection of the Ford offer, and he makes out a fairly convincing case.

Senator Ladd devotes a considerable part of his argument to the chemical phases of the subject, in which he is within his own field, chemistry having been his specialty in college work. It is interesting to note the manner in which his chemistry influences his economics. Ever since the advent of the Nonpartisan league he has been an ardent advocate of public ownership. But his experience as a chemist convinces him that the operation of a chemical plant the government would be out of its element, and he feels sure that such an activity should be conducted by private enterprise. Equal familiarity with the milling, packing and handling of grain, which have caused him to hesitate before advocating government control of those activities.

Referring to the theory that the government should sell the product of the Muscle Shoals plant directly to the consumer, Senator Ladd asks: "When will the department of agriculture have a selling agency equal to Mr. Ford's 10,000 successful agencies?"

That is a pertinent question. It presupposes the fact that production is not the only element that enters into the successful management of a manufacturing business. The product which is made must also be sold, and the sale of goods requires maintenance of a sales organization. Such an organization adequate to dispose of the product of a large factory cannot be created in a day. Yet in the inauguration of the North Dakota state mill and elevator, of which Mr. Ladd was one of the advocates, the original organizers apparently gave no thought to the question of selling the product of the plant. The idea seemed to be that it was necessary only to buy wheat, grind it, and have the world come and get the flour. It was found that flour does not sell itself. There are many people engaged in the business of milling, and all of them are actively engaged in selling their own flour. Some of them have been building their sales agencies for a generation or more, and they are not prepared to hand over the business to a new entrant.

The North Dakota plant started out with a manufacturing capacity of 4,000 barrels a day and no market at all. If the management had waited for customers and had continued to grind the prairies by now would have been covered with flour awaiting sale. It was necessary to create a sales agency equal to the manufacturing possibilities of the mill, and the management had before it the problem of doing in a few weeks what other institutions of like character had been doing gradually for many years.

Senator Ladd thinks that a sales agency for the distribution of chemical products is a very essential thing, and something which a government department cannot handle advantageously or quickly as compared with a business already well established. It seems not to have occurred to him that he same consideration operates in the distribution of flour.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What is the next riddle?" asked Nick.

The Riddle Lady looked wise.

"You should be able to guess it very quickly," she said. "Or any little boy, indeed!"

And she began:

"Little Tommy Tucker,

Eats the queerest supper,

Doesn't care a ginger-snap for white bread and butter.

Fish-hooks for breakfast, at dinner time a knife,

How he keeps from choking, I can't see for my life.

"Shuttle-cocks and battle-doors,

Handkerchiefs and apple cores,

Tommy keeps on stuffing as fast as he can stuff,

Buttons and wishing-bones, top strings and colored stones;

Such a greedy appetite! He never has enough.

"Nothing but a tummy,

Is this foolish dunny,

Nothing but a tummy and a great big mouth,

Marbles and whistles, a beetle and a thistle,

Gorging like the Moon Man a hunting for the south."

"Oh, goodness!" said Lady Locket.

"I know what that is and I'm not a boy, either."

"What is it?" asked the Riddle Lady.

"A pocket," said Lady Locket.

"But, alas! I had one and I lost mine. However, I didn't stuff things into it like a school-boy. There was nothing in it but my handkerchief and some tating."

"How could you lose your pocket, please?" asked Little Boy Blue.

"I lost it because it wasn't sewed into my skirt," said Lady Locket.

"It was only hung to my waist on ribbons and the ribbons got loose."

"That gives me an idea for a prize," said the Riddle Lady. "If you would like a new pocket, I have

"Much good that would do a boy."

Mrs. Dumppling spoke up then.

"Really it is ridiculous the things I take out of my son John's pocket after he has gone to bed. I have to mend his trousers every night and every night I find his pockets stuffed full. Why, I've even found worms in his pocket!"

"Oh, but Ma, that was fishing bait," cried son John.

"Maybe so and maybe not," said Mrs. Dumppling. "But anyway they were there. I knew what the riddle was as soon as the Riddle Lady began. Night after night I mend his pockets where they have torn away from his coat and trousers."

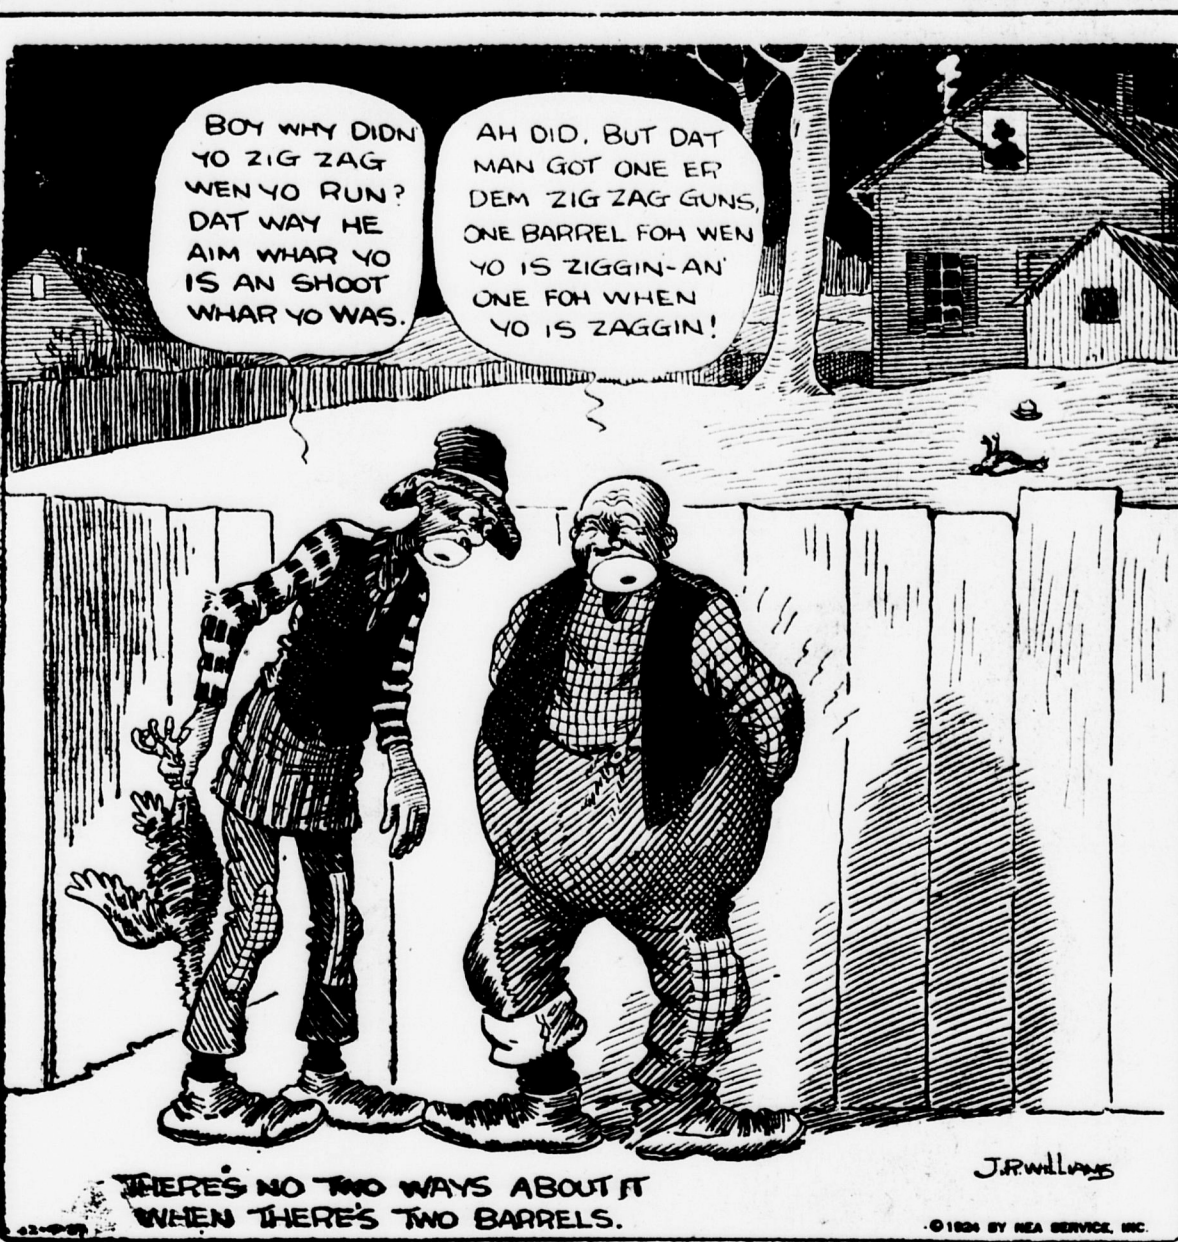

"Well, then!" said the Riddle Lady. "I'll give you a prize, too, a spool of extra strong thread."

"I think," said Mrs. Dumppling, "with a knowing nod, 'that if you happen to have a good stout stick, I'll take that instead.'"

Mrs. Dumppling spoke up then.

"Really it is ridiculous the things I take out of my son John's pocket after he has gone to bed. I have to mend his trousers every night and every night I find his pockets stuffed full. Why, I've even found worms in his pocket!"

"Oh, but Ma, that was fishing bait," cried son John.

"Maybe so and maybe not," said Mrs. Dumppling. "But anyway they were there. I knew what the riddle was as soon as the Riddle Lady began. Night after night I mend his pockets where they have torn away from his coat and trousers."

"Well, then!" said the Riddle Lady. "I'll give you a prize, too, a spool of extra strong thread."

"I think," said Mrs. Dumppling, "with a knowing nod, 'that if you happen to have a good stout stick, I'll take that instead.'"

I know, Jack, in just what guise she would set this thing before you. It is not a dishonorable thing that I have done and I wanted to tell you about it first.

I have told Ruth to tell you the whole thing very minutely, but before you go to her I want you to understand, dear, that I have only kept this from you because I loved you. I didn't want you to be angry with me.

Some way, dear, I have it in my mind that you would feel humiliated if you found your wife was earning any money. You always seemed to think that it was such an awful thing for Sally Atherton before her husband went blind to contribute to the expenses of the household.

You have always thought that woman's place was in the home, and although you haven't said it, I know that your conception of home was a house and a family of which some man was the head.

I can't say anything more. I've told you all. I am asking you to forgive me for keeping this secret from you. I did the deed because I wanted to help a friend and I kept it from you because I did not want to hurt you. Is there anything wrong in this?

Letter from Leslie Prescott to Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott
My Dear Mrs. Prescott: I received your letter and I must tell you that I am exceedingly angry. You know very well what awful mix-ups that terrible old maid, Priscilla Bradford, gets into every time she is with you.

I am so angry as I am writing this letter that I am only going to tell you in the fewest possible words that I do own half the lingerie shop; my friend, Mrs. Walter Burke, owning the other half. Is there anything dishonorable about that?

I expect by the time you receive this letter that Jack will know all there is to it.

At The Movies

THE ELTINGE

Amidst settings of mid-Victorian splendor, Norma Talmadge scores a great triumph in "Secrets," now showing at the Eltinge Theatre. Norma's latest picture is a story of London and the American fur West in the days just following the Civil War. The scenes and settings are colorful in the extreme.

Actresses in billowing crinolines, actors in short braided coats, huge stocks and cut-tickling collars weave about in the mazes of mid-Victorian sets, while little girls in lace-trimmed pantalettes and short curls give added color to the scenes.

AT THE CAPITOL

Typically a Lincoln J. Carter picture, the Fox version of "The Arizona Express," which opens at the Capitol Theatre, is a work of art. The romance of the rails, with falling bridges, rushing floods and smiling maul can handle, is woven into every foot of the picture so logically that one is carried away by the thrills.

Pauline Starke, Evelyn Brent, Harold Goodwin and David Butler have the principal roles, with the support of a capable cast. Miss Brent, as the queen of the bandits, does an excellent piece of work. David Butler portrays the young mail clerk whose heroism is phenomenal, but not fictive.

Pretty Women

wherever you look in France
By Edna Wallace Hopper

In Paris, nearly every girl is beautiful. Nearly every woman, whatever her age, looks young.

That is because French women have demanded youth and beauty. And French scientists met that demand.

I found there most of my beauty helps. I make frequent trips there to find out the new ones. They multiplied my beauty and they've kept my youthful bloom. Thousands who see me daily on the stage wonder at the marvelous results.

Now all those helps are at your call. All toilet counters have them. In four preparations are combined 32 ingredients. So you may use the best I've found in 40 years of searching.

My Youth Cream
My Youth Cream is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both linen and strawberry. Also all the best help-science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytime as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do.

The cost is 40c per jar.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I also owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs.

All the dirt, grease, grime and dead skin come out with it. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay
A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed. The final result of 20 years of scientific study.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy atterglow which amazes and delights. Combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. And many women seem to drop ten years after one application. My White Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth
The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray.

A concentrated product containing many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats all the stifled hair roots. It tones and stimulates. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty helps. Edna Wallace Hopper, 526 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

At The Movies

THE ELTINGE

Amidst settings of mid-Victorian splendor, Norma Talmadge scores a great triumph in "Secrets," now showing at the Eltinge Theatre.

Norma's latest picture is a story of London and the American far West in the days just following the Civil War. The gowns and settings, are colorful in the extreme.

Actresses in billowing crinolines, actors in short braided coats, huge stocks and ear-tickling collars weave about in the mazes of mid-Victorian sets, while little girls in lace-trimmed pantalettes and short curls give added color to the scenes.

AT THE CAPITOL

mail car bandits, is woven into every foot of the picture so logically that one is carried away by the thrills.

Pauline Starke, Evelyn Brent, Harold Goodwin and David Butler have the principal roles, with the support of a capable cast. Miss Brent, as the queen of the bandits, does an excellent piece of work. David Butler portrays the young mail clerk whose heroism is phenomenal, but effective.

Pretty Women

wherever you look in France

By Edna Wallace Hopper

In Paris, nearly every girl is beautiful. Nearly every woman, whatever her age, looks young.

That is because French women have demanded youth and beauty. And French scientists met that demand.

I found there most of my beauty helps. I make frequent trips there to find out the new ones. They multiplied my beauty and they've kept my youthful bloom. Thousands who have demanded youth and beauty. And French scientists met that demand.

Now all those helps are at your call. All toilet counters have them. In four preparations are combined 52 ingredients. So you may use the best I've found in 40 years of searching.

My Youth Cream
My Youth Cream is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do.

The cost is 60c per jar.

My Facial Youth
My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which also one to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs.

My Hair Youth
The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray.

A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats all the stifled hair roots. It tones and stimulates. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 50c and $1 with eyedropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty helps. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

IDLING WITH RADIO

"Idling with radio." Have you ever tried the diversion or obsession—an obsession after the third night. There is something in the "air" for every taste. That great invisible trumpet of the atmospheric waves is daily serving up a variety of entertainment and instruction that surprises even a novice at the game.

Sliding the dial around expectantly you tune in on a Chicago station featuring the reading of Shakespeare's plays. The other evening it happened to be Julius Caesar and the deep tones of Marc Anthony's oration came in crisp and clear. Just a fraction of a turn in the circle of noises, symphonies and readings and presto, there pounds forth some of the jazzy "blues" from the Alabama "blues" to the "alcoholic" kind of syncopation.

Just the variation of an inch and Calgary thunders in with a dissertation on "turkies" suggesting naively that the bird rather than the bald eagle should be the emblem of the United States or as the announcer put it of, "our neighbors to the south."

Telling off a few more notches along the dial and your ear is projected as it were into a banquet at the Drake hotel, Chicago, given in honor of the boys and girls, guests at the National Live Stock show. You could hear their yells, their snags and the addresses of Meredith, and other agricultural authorities urging the children to take a deeper interest in live-stock production, a feature of farm life which along with radio sets is making farm life more and more attractive to the girl and the boy.

Punching the air again and by some strange magic there is Dallas, Memphis, Cincinnati and the jolly fellows, the "Night-Hawks" of the Kansas City Star, with their "bovine lavender" and "Holstein Chimes."

In the quietude of Sabbath there is the most excellent broadcasting by the Dallas News and Journal of a Bible class conducted by a Rev. Anderson and services of the Westminster Presbyterian church. The Bible class has now enrolled some 12,000 members, all tuned in and with Bibles on their laps follow the non-denominational explanation of the Holy Writ.

crisp, cold night, just idle awhile with the radio, purring in on the waves of sound that travel swifter than mind can conceive and pierce to the very depths of the sea. A wonderful age indeed!

MORRIS RESOLUTION

While constitutional changes should be made carefully and not in the heat of a campaign or in the rush of popular opinion one situation calls for immediate attention of Congress. It will be thirteen months before the Sixty-ninth Congress is called into session unless President Coolidge summons an extra session. That would not be a disaster per se if it were not for the fact that under the constitution a "lame duck" Congress is in action and can hardly function according to the mandates laid down at the recent election.

The time elapsing between the inaugural of a newly elected president and the convening of a new Congress is a relic of the days of horseback, stage coaches and other picturesque institutions of colonial days. It will be recalled that rivers had to be forded, before Washington could be reached in the days of Jefferson. Legislatures had to convene to name senators and often Congress was without a quorum until the representatives of the people could get on the job.

All is changed now. Not long ago a Secretary of the Navy to gain a few hours took a navy airplane so as to be on time for a White House conference. There is no need to delay the transfer from the old to the new government in these days of rapid communication. There should be no constitutional barrier to the immediate assumption of office, say in the following January, of the President-elect and the new congress.

The Norris resolution provides this very thing and puts the new regime in the saddle the January following the general elections and the constitutional amendment also precludes confusion if none of the presidential candidates secure enough electoral votes.

Such a reform should be provided at the present session.

FASTING

Fasting for 15 days, by a man of 40, will usually bring his basic metabolic rate (ability of bodily tissues to consume food) back to that of a lad of 15. This is shown by three years of tests at University of Chicago.

On the other hand, fasting cannot restore youth because it, at the same time, weakens the body so greatly.

Nature has us blocked at every turn in the search for perpetual youth. We have to get off the stage to make room for oncoming generations.

INDIANS

Duke of Alba, direct descendant of Christopher Columbus, says the great explorer recorded: "The Indians are a gentle people, without knowing what evil is, without killing, without stealing."

Our American pioneers left quite a different story. Did the cruelty and trickery of this continent's first Spanish and other settlers generate bloodthirstiness in most old-time Indians? Did they acquire torture and murder, like whisky, from the white man?

AT AGE OF 54

At the age of 54, Laura Austin Dickinson re-enters college to resume her studies. You read of such cases frequently. They are unusual, because the popular notion is that the purpose of schooling is to learn how to win power and make money. That's true, to youth, anxious to get ahead.

As the years slip by, men and women become more concerned with the mystery of this life and the hereafter. They seek knowledge for its own sake. After all, the only real "old age" is a petrified mentality.

LADD ON MUSCLE SHOALS

(Grand Forks Herald)
Two articles on Muscle Shoals, prepared by Senator Ladd, of North Dakota, have recently appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. In these articles Senator Ladd sets forth the reasons why he favors the transfer of the Muscle Shoals property to Henry Ford substantially on the terms proposed by Mr. Ford. He takes issue sharply with the Norris report which recommended the rejection of the Ford offer, and he makes out a fairly convincing case.

Senator Ladd devotes a considerable part of his argument to the chemical phases of the subject, in which he is within his own field, chemistry having been his specialty in college work. It is interesting to note the manner in which his chemistry influences his economics. Ever since the advent of the Nonpartisan League he has been an ardent advocate of public ownership, but his experience as a chemist convinces him that in the operation of a chemical plant the government would be out of its element, and he feels sure that such an activity should be conducted by private enterprise. Equal familiarity with the milling, packing and banking phases might have caused him to hesitate before advocating government control of these activities.

Referring to the theory that the government should sell the product of the Muscle Shoals plant directly, Senator Ladd asks: "When will the department of agriculture have a selling agency equal to Mr. Ford's 10,000 successful agencies?"

That is a pertinent question. It presupposes the fact that production is not the only element that enters into the successful management of a manufacturing business. The product which is made must also be sold, and the sale of goods requires maintenance of a sales organization. Such an organization adequate to dispose of the product of a large factory cannot be created in a day. Yet in the inauguration of the North Dakota state mill and elevator, of which Mr. Ladd was one of the advocates, the original organizers apparently gave but a thought to the question of selling the product of the plant. The idea seemed to be that it was necessary only to buy wheat, grind it, and have the world come and get the flour. It was found that flour does not sell itself. There are many people engaged in the business of milling, and all of them are actively engaged in selling their own flour. Some of them have been building their sales agencies for a generation or more, and they are not prepared to stand aside and make room for North Dakota state flour.

The North Dakota plant started out with a manufacturing capacity of 4,000 barrels a day and no market at all. If the management had waited for customers and had continued to grind the prairie wheat until it had been covered with flour awaiting sale. It was necessary to create a sales agency equal to the manufacturing possibilities of the mill, and the management had before it the problem of doing in a few weeks what other institutions of like character had been doing gradually for many years.

Senator Ladd thinks that a sales agency for the distribution of chemical products is a very essential thing, and something which a government department cannot handle advantageously or quickly as compared with a business already well established. It seems not to have occurred to him that he same consideration operates in the distribution of flour.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What is the next riddle?" asked Nick.
The Riddle Lady looked wise. "You should be able to guess it very quickly," she said. "Or any little boy, indeed?"
And she began:

"Little Tommy Tucker,
Eats the queerest supper.
Doesn't care a ginger-nap for white bread and butter.
Fish-bones for breakfast, at dinner time a knife.
How he keeps from choking, I can't see for my life."

"Shuttle-cocks and battle-axes,
Handkerchiefs and apple cores,
Tommy keeps on stuffing as fast as he can stuff."

Buttons and washing-bones, too
Strings and colored cloths,
Such a greedy appetite! He never has enough."

"Nothing but a tummy,
Is this foolish dummy,
Nothing but a tummy and a great big mouth,
Marbles and whistles, a beetle and a thistle,
Gazing like the Moon Man a hunting for the south."

"Oh, goodness!" said Lady Lockett. "I know what that is and I'm not a boy, either."
"What is it?" asked the Riddle Lady.

"A pocket," said Lady Lockett. "But, alas! I had one and I lost mine. However, I didn't stuff things into it like a school-boy. There was nothing in it but my handkerchiefs and some tating."

"How could you lose your pocket, please?" asked Little Boy Blue.

"I lost it because it wasn't sewed into my skirt," said Lady Lockett. "It was only hung to my waist on ribbons and the ribbons got loose." "That gives me an idea for a prize," said the Riddle Lady. "If you would like a new pocket, I have one here made out of lace and satin."

"Lace and satin!" exclaimed Peter. "Much good that would do a boy."

Mrs. Dumping spoke up then. "Really it is ridiculous the things I take out of my son John's pocket after he has gone to bed. I have to mend his trousers every night and every night I find his pockets stuffed full. Why, I've even found worms in his pocket!"

"You, but, Ma, that was fishing bait," cried son John.

"Maybe so and maybe not," said Mrs. Dumping. "But anyway they was there. I knew what the riddle was as soon as the Riddle Lady became. Night after night I mend his pockets where they have torn away from his coat and trousers."

"Well, then!" said the Riddle Lady. "I'll give you a prize, too. Mrs. Dumping, some needles and a spool of extra strong thread."

"I think," said Mrs. Dumping, with a knowing nod, "that if you happen to have a good stout stick, I'll take that instead."

I know, Jack, in just what guise she would set this thing before you. It is not a dishonorable thing that I have done and I wanted to tell you about it first.

I have told Ruth to tell you the whole thing very minutely, but before you go to her I want you to understand, dear, that I have only kept this from you because I loved you and I didn't want you to be angry with me.

Some way, dear, I have it in my mind that you would feel humiliated if you found your wife was earning any money. You always seemed to think that it was such an awful thing for Sally Atherton before her husband went blind to contribute to the expenses of the household.

You have always thought that woman's place was in the home, and although you haven't said it, I know that your conception of home was a house and a family of which some man was the head.

Is This Your Birthday

FRIDAY, DEC. 5.—Self-confidence is quite often lacking in those born on this date, and consequently many years of their life are wasted. Possessed of natural ability and personality a little "push" is all that is necessary to carry them high in any endeavor undertaken.

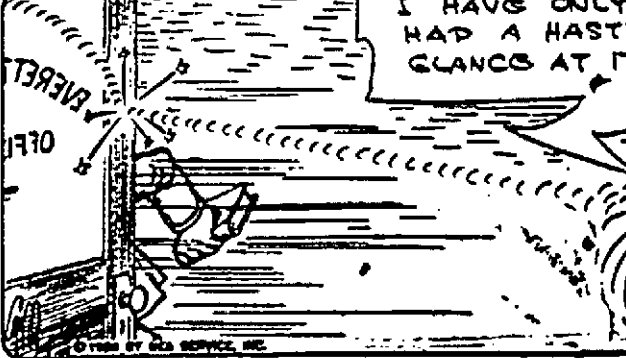

This lack of self-confidence often breeds a dark view of life. Do not permit unfilled dreams to worry you, work hard and faithfully, know your work thoroughly and then convince yourself you know it. You will find happy years ahead.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS BEAUTIFUL VOLUME OF

YOU GO TO A BULLFIGHT?

By Albert Apple

English soccer football is crowding out the bullfight as the favorite sport of Spain. So reports Professor J. Ortega of University of Wisconsin after a long tour over there. He says: "The Spanish people are building large stadiums holding 35,000 spectators. They run their games on Sunday afternoon in competition with the bullfights, and the football takes the people. The kids who used to play at bullfighting now are playing football in the streets, like American boys."

This is an important change, because countries reveal their national character and degree of civilization by their national sports.

Baseball is a fast game, requiring skill, quick decision, good judgment and teamwork. This fits the American temperament, so baseball is the national game.

Spain chose the bullfight. A great transformation is taking place among the Spanish people. This is illustrated quite as much by the change in their national sport, as in political upheavals.

What does it all mean—this shifting to football instead of bullfights? Something big in history, bank on that. Civilizations are swayed by changes in sports, diet, customs and fashions.

Spain has been frequently condemned for its bullfights. The real trouble has been in the government's permitting these brutal exhibitions. The popularity of bullfights does not necessarily mean that the average Spaniard has the bullfight temperament.

We have observed that bullfights are quite popular, in movies and fiction, with our own people. And if bullfights were permitted in America they'd "play to packed houses." We have a very close imitation—the prizefight.

New York, Dec. 5.—It is generally believed that Broadway stars who big money spend it in an "easy come, easy go" manner. Very few of them do. Long Island is studded with fine homes owned by Broadway performers, not the meanness of which is Al Johnson's. Frank Tinney's wife lives on an ample estate bought by her errant husband. Madge Kennedy has just accumulated a small fortune in Wall Street. Anna Fitzin, Metropolitan star, has just invested $150,000 or more in diamonds and pearls. That represents only part of her profit in stock exchange speculation.

Maybe the good old days are returning to Gotham. A penny arcade, with peep machines, weight machines and shooting gallery is opening on 42nd street, near Times Square.

More young men go to see Valentino than any other screen actor of the day, I believe. Fully half the throng waiting to see his latest picture was composed of young men, many of them wearing sideburns in the Valentino manner. And these young nabobs were not escorting girls.

FABLES ON HEALTH

KEEP CLEAN INSIDE

Exactly what is personal hygiene? It is always being recommended and few people know exactly what is meant. Well, it is a rather large order to answer, as the physical director explained to Mr. Jones of Anytown when he popped the question.

But, reduced to a series of simple sentences, the formula is this:

Be clean inside as well as out. Breathe fresh air as often as possible.

Get outdoors as much as you can. Get lots of sunshine.

Eat wholesome, nutritious food. Drink plenty of water. Don't overeat and look out for overweight.

Get as much play as you can, but don't be afraid of work.

Get your regulation sleep; eight hours is better.

Exercise—make a practice of daily stunts. Wear sensible clothing. Keep a cheerful state of mind and try to control your nerves as much as possible in a hectic world.

Take care of your eyes, and particularly of your teeth. Have a clean, healthy abdominal tract.

Have a health examination about once a year, even if you are feeling fit.

MOVEMENT OF ELECTRONS DESCRIBED

By A. W. Hull of the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 5.—Experiments by which scientists have been able to listen to the movement of electrons, the smallest particles of all matter, were described here today by Dr. A. W. Hull of the research laboratory of the General Electric Company at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society.

The vacuum tube amplifier in which the amplification is carried to a hundred-thousand fold, and with which a million fold can be reached, makes this possible Dr. Hull stated. The sound produced by the electrons is caused by bombardment of the plate by electrons released from the hot filament. It is these electrons, which carry the current and which make the operation of the tube possible. The noise is therefore a fundamental property of electron emission, a characteristic of the electron, according to Dr. Hull. The experiments have been conducted jointly by Dr. Hull and Dr. H. H. Williams of the University of Michigan at the university.

The noise, due to the electrical oscillation which is set up by the impacts of the individual electrons on the plate, is known as the Schott effect. The energy of each blow is extremely minute, but, like drops, the energies of the many individual blows add, and their sum becomes very large. With sufficient amplification Dr. Hull stated, the blows may produce a roar like that of Niagara.

The electron is the unit charge of electricity and the determination of its value is of the utmost importance. The oil drop method, devised by Professor Millikan in the physics laboratory of the University of Chicago, gave science its first accurate measurements of the charge of the electron. Accurate as the experiments are, however, it is desirable that they be checked by some independent method.

Millikan's method of measuring the charge of an electron is based on the influence of gravity and of electric charges on minute oil "droplets." These droplets are so small that the effect of gravity causes them to fall only a quarter of an inch in ten seconds.

In the formation of these small drops with an atomizer, occasionally one becomes charged by friction; i. e., it may carry an additional electron. If then the droplet is between two electrically charged plates it will behave differently from the uncharged particles Dr. Hull stated. Those which are not charged will fall. The charged particles will be attracted to the positive plate. By the use of the proper voltage between the plates, these charged particles can be made to fall more slowly, held stationary, or caused to move upward. If two electrons, instead of one, are held by the droplet, the effect is doubled. Measurements made by this method give the value of the electronic charge very exactly. In recognition of the importance of this work, the Nobel prize in science for last year was awarded to Professor Millikan.

Doctors Hull and Williams have measured the charge of the electron in a different way, by means of the Schott effect, and have opened a field for research which promises to add to the knowledge regarding the electron and its properties. It was not such a long time ago that the electron was unknown, the speaker declared. First scientists had the molecule, itself so small that man's ability ever to see even one of the largest may seriously be doubted. Then came the atom, the minute integral part of the molecule. For a long time the atom was considered as the ultimate particle of matter. But each element presents a different atom. Science was not content to rest. It sought to connect all phenomena, and the electron was the result.

It was discovered that all matter is composed of electrons, the different substances resulting from the atoms according to the number and arrangement of the electrons they contain.

WAITS SIX YEARS

But Wedding Ring Never Came, So Now She Wants $50,000

MRS. GRACE MORTIMER

By NEA Service

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—Six years of waiting for a wedding ring is worth just $50,000 to Mrs. Grace Mortimer.

At least she has just filed a breach of promise suit here for that amount against Vincent Arena, wealthy San Francisco man.

She charges she divorced her husband, Lewis Mortimer, in 1918, on the strength of her expectations of a "happy ever afterward" ending with Arena.

The date for the wedding was set, then Arena asked that it be postponed, she says. And since then five other dates likewise have been set only to be broken by Arena, Mrs. Mortimer insists.

So despite gifts of diamonds, furniture and such tokens, she's still waiting.

husband, Wilford Sweetin, was in recess today until Monday, when renewed efforts will be made to obtain a jury.

Nine jurors had been selected when court adjourned shortly before last midnight. The completion of the jury Monday without great delay is expected.

Oakland, Cal., Dec. 5.—Six persons are dead, 7 are probably fatally injured, and more than 30 others are bruised, lacerated and suffering from shock as a result of a rear and collision here between two electric trains.

The collision occurred shortly before 8 a. m., when a one-car train of the Sacramento Shore Line crashed into a three-car Key Route system train about a mile from the Oakland pier of the Key route. Both trains were filled with commuters bound for San Francisco.

REDUCTION IN EXPRESS RATES IS CONTESTED

Ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission Attacked by Railroads

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—Fifty-three railroads launched a fight against a reduction in express rates authorized under an order of the interstate commerce commission May 17, to become effective Jan. 1, in a suit filed in United States district court here against the federal government and the American Railway Express company.

Virtually all the railroad comprising the western mountain, Pacific and southern rate groups, which were segregated by a ruling of the interstate commerce commission July 3, 1921 under authority of the so-called interstate commerce act, are plaintiffs in the action.

Order Held Not Valid
The case attacks the validity of the interstate commerce commission order of May 17 and asks that that part of it which requires reductions in class express rates in zones 2, 3, 4 and 5 be adjudged illegal.

The railroads ask that enforcement of the order be temporarily enjoined pending hearings on the suit and that a permanent injunction be issued thereafter.

A 48-page complaint in the action, accompanied by several exhibits comprising 150 pages of printed matter, was filed by H. W. Scandrett, solicitor for the Great Northern railroad, in behalf of the roads interested. Names of 20 more attorneys, representing various roads, are signed to the complaint.

The complaint sets forth that the order reducing express rates was issued after an investigation by the interstate commerce commission undertaken on its own initiative without complaints in regard to the matter of express rates.

Finds Are Incorrect
It is alleged that the interstate commerce commission findings are incorrect, the commission ascertaining through its investigation that railroads of the western, mountain, Pacific and southern groups operated on a shortage of approximately $5,000,000 under a return of 5.3-4 percent on a valuation of express properties, and business done in 1922.

The railroads allege that the western, mountain, Pacific and southern groups in 1922 lost $56,969,622 under the 5.3-4 rate of return on their investment.

The complaint sets forth that application of rates in the order of May 17 would result in an increase of revenue to railroads of the eastern group of $9,777,525 on the volume of business in 1922 and would result in further decrease to the western and mountain Pacific groups of $7,447,579 and to the southern group of $1,209,433.

MARKET NEWS

Wire Markets By Associated Press

WHEAT RISES EARLY TODAY

Active Buying Follows Wavering Start

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Active buying by houses with eastern connections carried wheat upward today after wavering start. Offerings were light early, and the fact that Liverpool and Buenos Aires quotations showed strength helped lift values here. Bullish advances from Argentine counted also as something of a factor. The opening which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, declined to 1 1/4 gain, with May 1 1/2, 1 1/4 and July 1 1/4, 1 1/4. The market was followed by a slight general sag and then by a rise all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Subsequently additional advances took place on account of reports that excessive wheat had damaged the late Argentine crop. Closing prices were unsettled. Dec to 1 1/4 net higher, May $1.61 to $1.61 1/2 and July $1.42 1/2 to $1.42 1/2.

MOVEMENT OF ELECTRONS DESCRIBED

By A. W. Hull of the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 5.—Experiments to which certain hypotheses have been able to bring the movement of electrons, the smallest particles of matter, were described here today by Dr. A. W. Hull, of the research laboratory of the General Electric Company, at the annual meeting of the American Physical Society.

The electron, the smallest particle of matter, is a tiny sphere of negative electricity, about one hundredth of a centimeter in diameter, and with a mass about one two thousandths that of a hydrogen atom. It is the movement of these electrons, which produces the electric current, that is the subject of the experiments described by Dr. Hull. The experiments were conducted jointly by Dr. Hull and Dr. H. H. Williams, of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The first step in the experiments was to get a stream of electrons from a cathode ray tube. The cathode ray tube is a glass tube with a cathode at one end and an anode at the other. The cathode is heated, and electrons are emitted from it. The anode is positively charged, and the electrons are attracted to it. The electrons travel from the cathode to the anode, and this is the electric current.

The experiments were conducted in a vacuum, and the results were very accurate. The experiments showed that the electrons move in a straight line, and that they are attracted to a positively charged plate. The experiments also showed that the electrons move faster when the voltage is higher.

REDUCTION IN EXPRESS RATES IS CONTESTED

Ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission Attacked by Railroads

St. Paul, Dec. 5.—Fifty-three railroads launched a fight against a reduction in express rates authorized under an order of the interstate commerce commission May 17, to become effective Jan. 1, in a suit filed in federal district court here against the federal government and the American Railway Express company.

Virtually all the railroad companies of the western, mountain, Pacific and southern groups, which were segregated by a ruling of the interstate commerce commission July 9, 1921 under authority of the so-called interstate commerce act, are plaintiffs in the action.

The case attacks the validity of the interstate commerce commission order of May 17 and asks that that part of it which requires reduction in class express rates in zones 2, 3, 4 and 5 be adjudged illegal. The railroads ask that enforcement of the order be temporarily enjoined pending hearings on the suit and that a permanent injunction be issued thereafter.

A 48-page complaint in the action, accompanied by several exhibits comprising 150 pages of printed matter, was filed by B. W. Scandrett, solicitor for the Great Northern railroad, on behalf of the roads interested. Names of 20 more attorneys, representing various roads, are signed to the complaint.

The complaint sets forth that the order reducing express rates was issued after an investigation by the interstate commerce commission under duress, and that the order is in violation of the interstate commerce act.

The complaint also sets forth that the order is in violation of the interstate commerce act, and that the railroads are entitled to a permanent injunction against its enforcement.

UNIVERSITY 52 STORIES IN AIR, IS PLAN

Head of University of Pittsburgh Explains Motives
For Its Erection

EXPRESSES SPIRIT
Also Declares That Per Cubic Foot of Construction
Makes it Economical

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5.—A building of great height "to express the spirit of Pittsburgh achievement with such force and such grasp of its sublimity that the whole world will understand" is the underlying idea of the University of Pittsburgh's 52 story "Cathedral of Learning" to be erected at the entrance to Schenley Park and near the site of present facilities of the institution. The cathedral will cost $10,000,000.

Chancellor J. C. Bowman expressed this idea as the principal purpose of the trustees in planning this radical departure in university building construction, pointing out that most educational buildings were long and low, modeled after the structures of ancient Greece and Rome. They suggest calmness and repose, he said, whereas the building planned for Pittsburgh will suggest achievement and ambition for further achievement. Repose, he said, is a reward for labor performed and is not the atmosphere in which youth should prepare for the struggles of life.

Cathedral of Learning. "The Cathedral of Learning," Chancellor Bowman said, "is to be the greatest structure ever erected by any community to tell its own living will. The Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial in Washington are the expressions of a nation, not of the city of Washington, but this building will be an expression of the spirit of Pittsburgh. The building is to be high, not for the sake of being high, but for the power of inspiration and for the sublimity which great height, together with right proportions, mass, lines, carvings, friezes and pointed Gothic arches can give. By its architecture and by its purpose the building is to record in an atmosphere of worship the effort of those who made Pittsburgh what it is and to inspire to still higher achievement those who are to come. It is for this reason that there will be no tower on the building.

The "Cathedral of Learning" is but one of two ambitious building projects launched by the university. The other is the $2,000,000 stadium which will be ready for use next fall. It is being built of steel and concrete and covers a tract 150 by 600 feet. Its seating capacity will be 65,000. Work on the new building will start early next year. It will stand on a 14 acre plot facing Schenley Park, in the heart of Pittsburgh's "Billion Dollar Educational Section." It will accommodate 12,000 students and virtually all departments of the university will be housed within its high walls except the colleges of Medicine and Dentistry which will occupy the present buildings of the university.

Three years were required to draw the plans, which call for Gothic style architecture in white Kentucky limestone. It will be 680 feet high, 500 feet long and 260 feet wide. Four main doorways, 30 feet high, will provide entrances to the building and 16 high-speed elevators will carry students to the classrooms on the upper floors. Charles Z. Klauder of Philadelphia drew the plans.

Cost is Lower. The cost of construction per cubic foot in a high building is somewhat higher than the corresponding cost in a low building. Chancellor Bowman said, but added that this greater cost "is largely offset by a greater percentage of effective area obtainable in the high building. High construction offers obviously better ventilation, better light, less noise, less dust. The cost of heat, of upkeep and of janitorial service favors high construction. The foundation of the building would require about one and three-fourths acres taken near the center of the quadrangle. This would leave more than 12 of the 14 acres for other buildings in the future. If the space needed by the university were created in four story buildings, these buildings would cover the 14 acres. The saving, in land, by the high construction, amounts to about $2,000,000. The cost of operating elevators is largely offset by the savings in heat, upkeep and janitor service."

"Flettner's Rotor" Sails Without Sails—Hailed As One of Greatest Inventions in Motive Power in All Time

By NEA Service

Berlin, Dec. 5.—They laughed at Columbus and at Robert Fulton and at thousands of the men whose vision has made the world move forward.

And now, if there ever was a prime object for derision, it is Anton Flettner and his new sailless, engineless ship, which he moves by what he calls a "rotor."

The trouble for the jokers is that it seems to work. Conservative business men are investing their money in it. Trial trips are reported marvellously successful. It is said to reduce crews, save space and effect economies estimated at from 35 to 60 per cent. It may revolutionize ocean transportation as completely as did the steamship.

Flettner's ship, the Buckau, is a 200-ton freighter, rebuilt for his experiments. The masts are removed, and in their place are two steel cylinders, rising from the keel and standing about 60 feet in the air. They are about nine feet in diameter.

A small electric motor is used to start them revolving, and as they spin around the ship moves. Their speed reaches 120 revolutions a minute.

A ship so equipped can drive through the worst ocean storms, according to the inventor, and attain a speed far beyond the average of steam freighters.

How does it work? What makes the ship go? Silence is Flettner's answer to the question. He has made long tests on the Baltic Sea and plans a voyage to America, but he withholds announcement of the hidden principle which he applies.

All he reveals is that it is a development of the Magnus Law, a principle of physics discovered in Germany more than half a century ago. This law asserts that a cylinder revolving in a current of air will exert pressure at right angles to the current. But how this principle can be utilized to harness enough power from the wind to drive a ship is a mystery to the great uninitiated public, both scientists and laymen alike.

Wonders, of course, are what the world is filled with. Electricity is fully as miraculous to the surface observer as these fragmentary accounts of Flettner's rotor ship. Even sailing ships daily accomplish the seemingly unreasonable feat of progressing against the wind.

The Hamburg-American line is reported so thoroughly sold on the Flettner idea that it has committed itself to install the rotor on ten new freighters for its Asiatic trade. The Stinnes Shipping Co. likewise is said to plan using the rotor. The pioneer ship of Flettner's was equipped by the Krupp concern.

The inventor previously has established himself sufficiently in the scientific world for his announcements to be taken seriously. He has perfected a rudder and now is director of aerodynamics at the Institute of Amsterdam.

One further question suggests itself from Flettner's experiments. If the wind can be harnessed by his cylinders to drive a ship, could it not be caught on land to generate power for any industrial purpose?

brome grass seed by Earl W. Slagg and Archie Snider, who will cash in at over $18 an acre on 300 acres devoted to brome grass where allowed to seed and the seed threshed.

On the 300 acres they obtained 100,000 pounds of seed for which they receive 3 1/2 cents a pound. It runs 14 pounds to the bushel. At 5 1/2 cents a pound the return will be about $5500 or a little better than $18 an acre, all to the good except the threshing bill, small outlay for cutting and hauling to market. Of the 300 acres, Mr. Slagg had 120 acres and Mr. Snider about 180.

NEW KIND OF HEATER

Berlin, Dec. 5.—An electric face-heater for cold weather has been invented by Lemuel Koontz, a Berlin mechanic. The apparatus takes the form of a hat that fits snugly on the head and down over the ears and chin. Heat is radiated through the device by electricity.

APPOINTMENTS OF OFFICIALS IS DISCUSSED

Activity for "House Cleaning"
Is Followed by Comment
in Political Circles

PRESSURE IS BROUGHT

The extent to which the "spoils system" will be employed by Governor-elect A. G. Sorlie and other Nonpartisan League officials when they assume office is the subject of comment in political circles at this time. Changes with administration always are expected but more interest than usual will attach to the inauguration of new League officials from the fact that demands have been made on them to "clean house" from top to bottom.

Discussion has followed the recent demand of the North Dakota Nonpartisan, official organ of the League, for a "house cleaning." The newspaper, in stating its position, said: "The Nonpartisan takes the position that no League endorsed official should give employment to any one who is not an out and out Leaguer, thoroughly in sympathy with the movement of the farmers and laborers; that only men and women who are thoroughly competent, honest, dependable and of good character should be employed."

Some Independents, who object to the demands, hold that a complete "house cleaning" would be a departure from the practice of the Independent administration when it came into power, asserting that while many Nonpartisans were relieved of positions this practice did not extend generally.

It is asserted by those Independents that more employees of the Bank of North Dakota under the League management were retained than discharged under the Independent administration, and that this is true of the state highway commission. They also say that Sveinbjorn Johnson, when Attorney-General, retained an appointee of William Lemke and Attorney-General Shafer appointed one who had been an appointee of Governor Frazier. Many other employees, particularly in positions not classed as executive, have remained in them

Kellogg's Bran delights father by bringing health to children

Poor little kids—they needed bran. But they wouldn't eat ordinary bran. They didn't like them. Most folks don't. Then their father tried Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. What a difference! He tells the story in his letter:

"Dear Sir: I wish to express my appreciation of your krumbled bran, which I have used for my children the summer. We had a great deal of trouble with them through constipation, and bran had been the most satisfactory remedy but they could not be induced to take the old varieties. . . . because they disliked them so. Then enjoy the krumbled bran and consider it an essential ingredient of their porridge. No one whose child has not been troubled in this way can realize the relief there is in a good bran. Bowels move regularly." (The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It should not be neglected. But do not try hasty measures in seeking relief. Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. And it takes ALL bran to be 100% effective. Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. The flavor is delicious. Sprinkle it on other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes on every package. It will bring you health. Begin eating it today. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.
